The year began full of ideas growing and electrified with spirit and hope. Each of us, either with friends or alone, started planning and dreaming what we would do with the year.

Some set goals for just finishing the year, others mapped out what they would do for the rest of their lives.

Suddenly we knew exactly what we wanted and charged a little bit blindly after our glittering goal.

Mary,
I'm a really quiet, but sweet gal. Stay that way and remember me, Spanish, and homeroom!
Love,

Along with the northern winds of winter came snow, ice and confusion. Our once beautiful and clear dream became slowly covered with the fears of the future.

Depressed, confused and somewhat alone, we decided to press on for our goal, trying to cut through the problems that stood as hurdles for us.

Mary,
To a sweet person. I wish we could have had a chance to become better friends. I wish you all the luck in the world. Have a nice summer. See

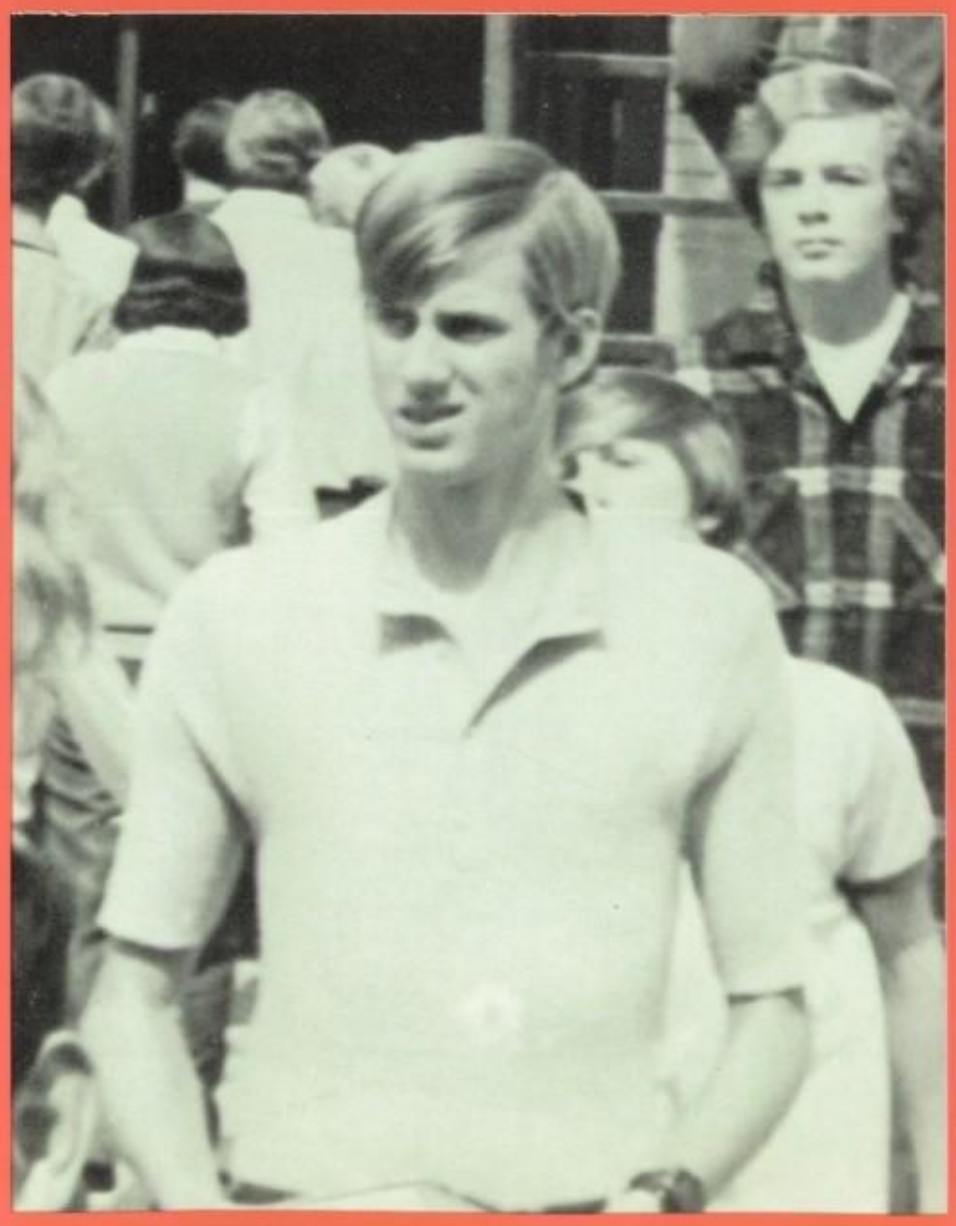
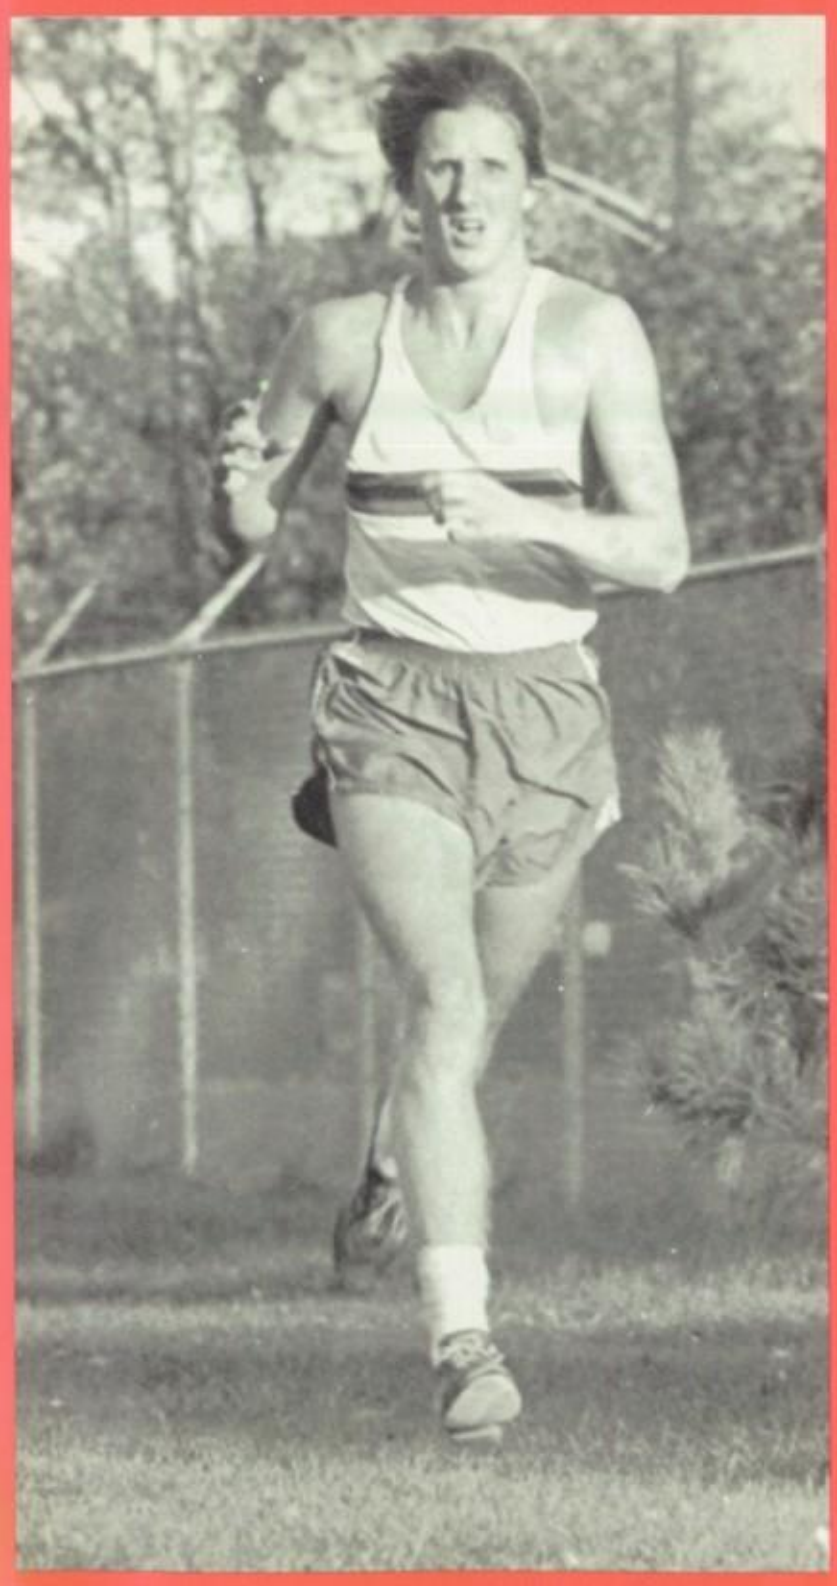
What does the future hold for us? Will our hopes vanish in a puff of smoke or are they just hiding around the corner?

Peek around that corner and if you see your dream, run. Run madly after it.





Mary,

To a real sweet girl.
Always remember history class.
Good luck always

Members Of Women's Lib Are "FLIPPED"

A play definitely relevant today, "FLIPPED" dealt with the humorous aspects of women's liberation.

At first Gaby and Drusy planned to discourage their younger sister Niki Pendleton from remaining in FLIPPED, the Feminine Liberation Idealists Party for Permanent Equality and Democracy. The plan backfired, however, when Niki convinced them that they should become members. When Mrs. Pendleton joined, too, it became too much for the men who schemed to teach the girls a lesson.

Members of the women's liberation group invaded the Kitten Club, but were shocked by the appearance of men wearing kitten costumes, proclaiming men's liberation. A riot broke out and everyone ended up in court where their hilarious differences were resolved.

Employment Yields Various Rewards

Students gave up the sand and the sun last summer to earn money. Carryout boys, waitresses, and clerks found themselves propelled forward by visions of cars and colleges as they built up a reserve of cash. Some followed the buy now, save later plan, enlarging record collections and wardrobes, or just "bumming around."

But no matter what their motives for work, everyone gained valuable experience, more independence, and greater responsibility through their endeavors.

Elston was rewarded with the best track record ever by the 1972 track squad. Two school records and a Gill Field record were broken. Willie Cross, a sophomore letterman with a time of 22.4, broke the school record in the 220. Wayne Edwards, a third year letterman, broke the record at Gill Field for the broad jump with a 2117″ leap, and Scott Warren, lettering for the second time, broke the school record for the low hurdles by .4 of a second with a time of 20.4. Other lettermen included: Barry Cole, Larry Hackett, Phil Haddad, Jim Murray, Ken Thomas, Cecil Daniels, Dave Geyer, Udell Laster, Larry Lindsey, Jim Van Lane, Larry Alexander, Dan Butts, John Jaques, Jim Maule, Charles Stockham, Rob Witner, and Larry Williams, all first year lettermen. Ken Behrendt, Bill Garrett, Paul Hurt, and John Willey all received letters for the third time. At the conference meet, Elston placed third out of seven teams, and City came in fifth out of 24 at the Sectional. Three members of the team participated in the Regionals: John Willey in the high jump, Wayne Edwards in the broad jump, and Scott Warren in the low hurdles. John Willey and Scott Warren also took part in the State meet and were the track squad's two most valuable players.

Elston Lambs Ham It Up

From an early rock performance by Little Ricky and the Human Zippers to a modern dance routine by Selma Branch, this year's Hams 'n' Lambs show revealed a great amount of versatility and talent within our school. Jan Hardy delighted the audience with her cute monologue "The Peach" and several girls' singing groups performed such popular songs as "Spinning Wheel," "Yesterday," and "There Ain't Nothing Like a Guy." An excellent piano duet was performed by Carol Patterson and Connie Wynn. Between scenes Rick Wallerstein puzzled the audience with his joke about a man who had "peach pie" for dessert. The show was concluded with an encore by Little Ricky and the Human Zippers accompanied by the Spaulding Hotel.

Juniors Create Sea Fantasy

In spite of the slow start common to all prom crews and the lack of workers, the prom finally developed into a beautiful "City Under the Sea." At first only a handful of Juniors attended very unorganized meetings, but they eventually formed themselves into committees and decided on decorations. Work progressed slowly until in the last week a panic call was made for more workers. Interested students gave up their study halls, and many others stayed after school until evening to help finish the work. When it was done, our gym had been successfully transferred into a glittering water wonderland.

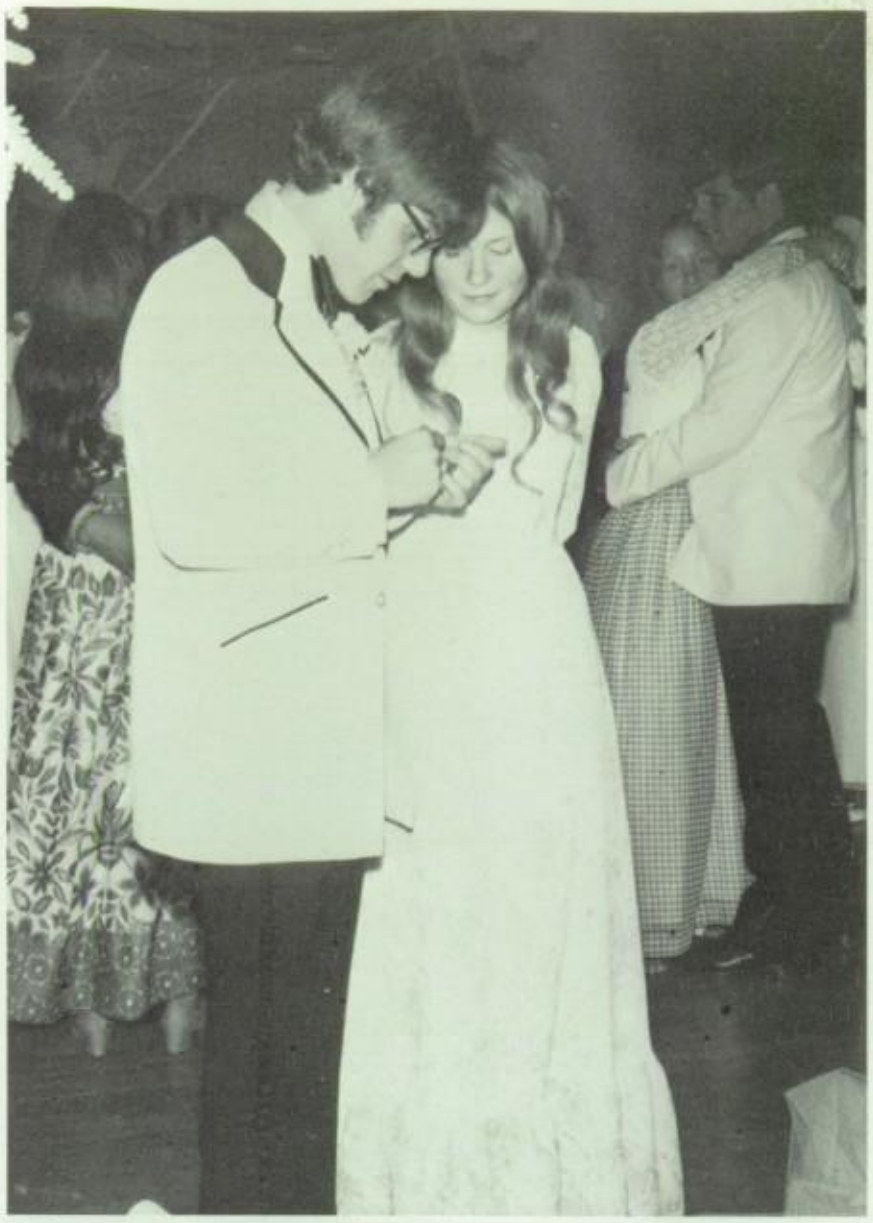
Couples Float Through Ocean Kingdom . . .

Gleaming waves tumbling from the midst of the ocean splashed upon the walls. Fish, fishnets, blue and green lights, and a sparkling treasure island completed the setting for the 1972 Junior-Senior Prom. Volunteers from the Sophomore class, garbed as mermaids and sailors, complemented the total scene. Dreamy music, by Johnny Nolan and his Orchestra, provided just the right touch of romanticism. The evening was lapping away the sands of time. Everything was peaceful . . .



. . . Surface On Shores Of Treasure Island

. . . Crash! went the drumsticks on the cymbals as the Spaulding Hotel snapped the crowd back into reality at Post Prom. Shoes were shed, suspenders dropped, suitcoats were flung over chairs, and everyone relaxed. The Juniors and Seniors have the hard-working parents to thank for the most successful Post Prom ever. The theme, Treasure Island, was developed by giving treasure to everyone present and by using silver palm trees and islands as table decorations. Activities terminated at three in the morning, when the mythical ocean waves reclaimed the dream world.

Intelligence And Reflexes Necessary To Win

The Elston Bowl, the well known quiz show around school, does take more than brains. It takes a good memory as well as quick reflexes. Students are expected to remember their past education plus details of supposedly common knowledge.

The final battle of teams was broadcast over closed circuit television. It was shown during the Social Studies classes, so that everyone benefited from a barrage of correct responses.

The team of Quinn and Ash, "Quash," reigned supreme. It consisted of Evan Hughes, Steve Parkman, and Larry Scott. The host, Mr. Bruemmer, read twenty questions for each game. The team with the most points was proclaimed the victor.

ELSTONIAN Distribution Summons Past

Despite arriving three days late and without names printed on them, the 1972 Elstonians met with general approval. Leafing through them, students squealed with delight upon finding themselves in candid shots. After glancing through the book, pens were produced, and they settled down to the business of signing autographs. The evening ended on a mellow note with students reliving memories of the 1971-72 school year.

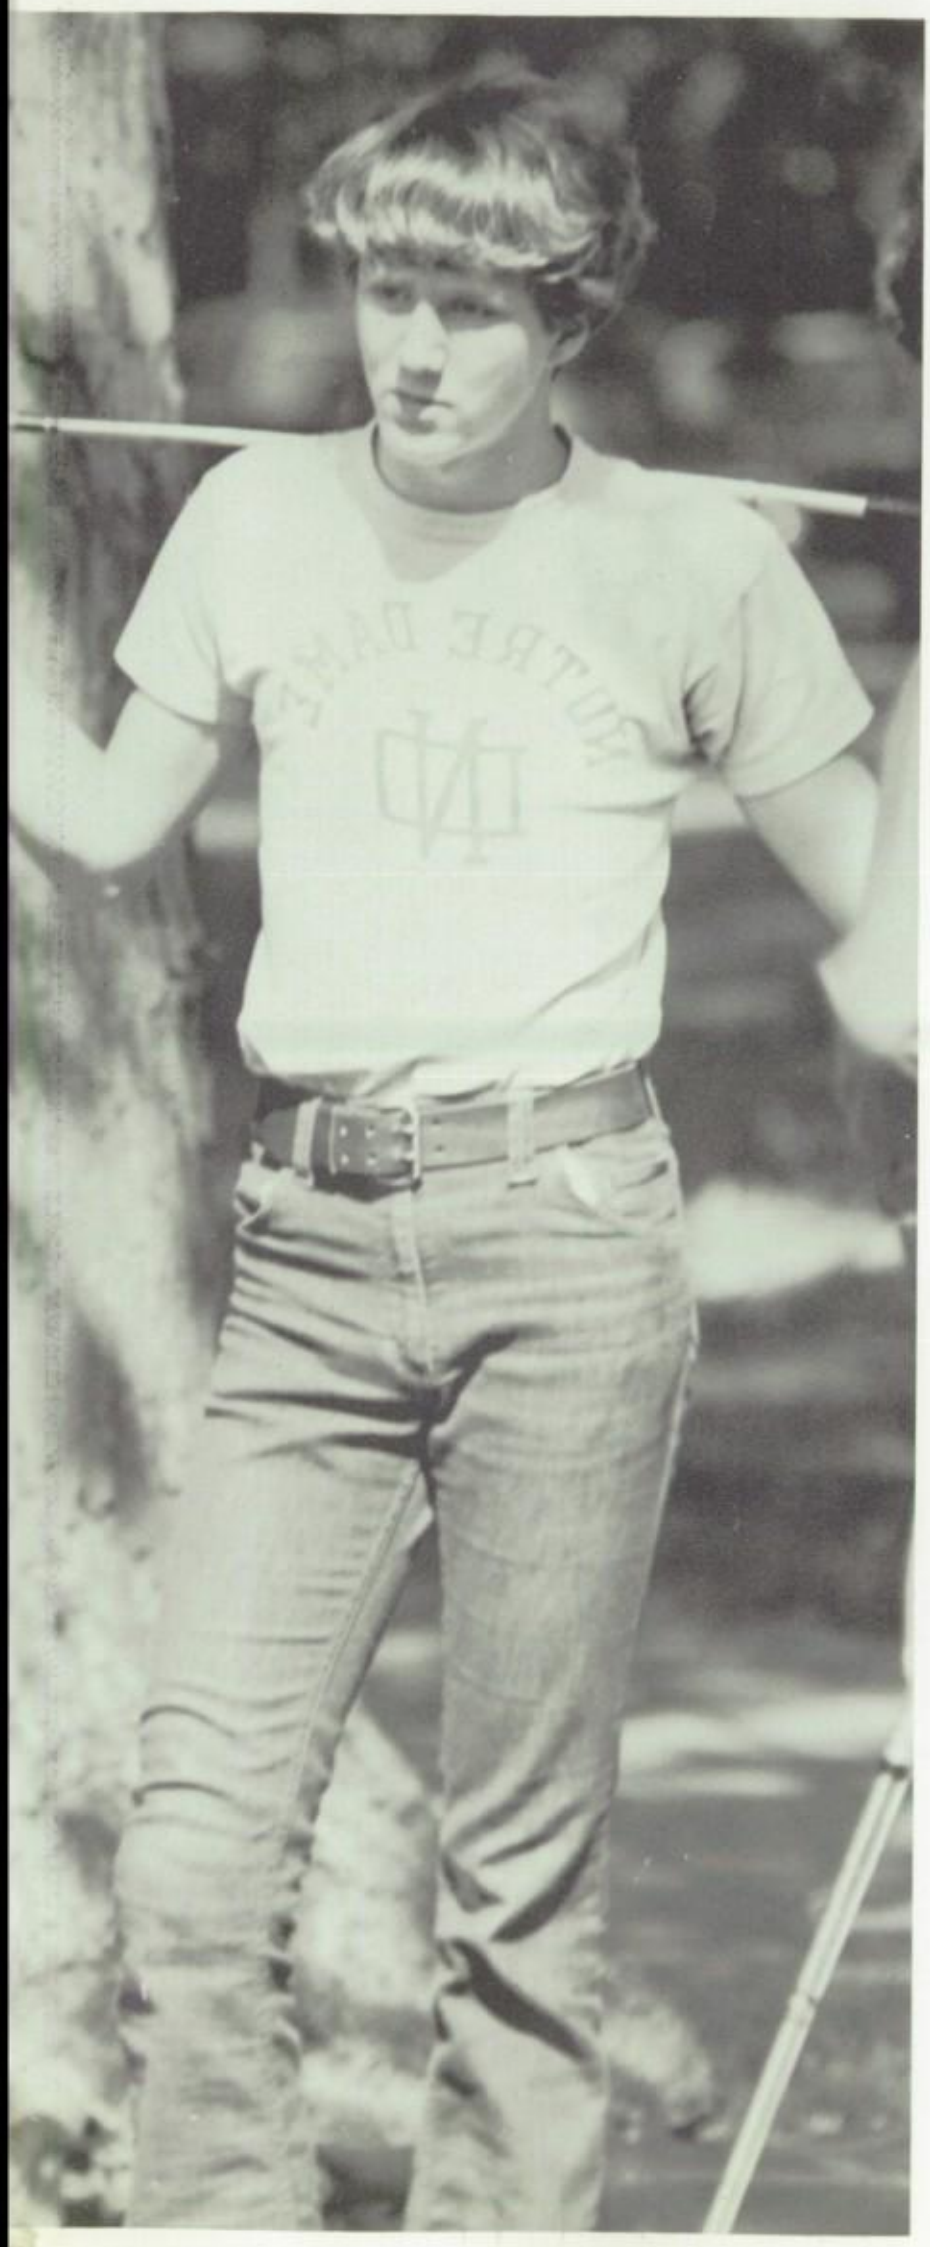
Golf Team Swings Through Another Season



The golf team, with seven lettermen leading the way, wound up the season with an 8-17 won-lost record. Lettering in golf were Seniors John LaRocco, Wes Dwyer, and Bruce Given, and Juniors John Kassin, Rick Kieft, and John Blubaugh, with Louis King representing the Sophomores. John LaRocco, who had another great season, was voted the most valuable player on the golf squad for the second straight year.

In Sectional play, City finished seventh, winning four and losing eight of the twelve matches.

Seniors Follow Squeeze Traditions

The ambitious student body of Elston turned out $3191 last year for the Squeeze. Funds were raised through car washes, dances, and selling doughnuts in homeroom. The money raising came to a head during squeeze week when the slave sale, Bastille Day, and the presentation of trophies took place.

The Seniors led the classes this year with $1900 showing typical senior superiority. The Juniors took second with $707 just edging over the Sophomores, who came up with $584.

Elston finished its best season in three years with a 13-11 record. The Red Devils started off strong with a halfway record of 9-3, but slacked off toward the end of the season. There were fourteen lettermen, of which George Gabor, Wes Heninger, Dan Pishkur, Rich Van Vlack, and Darrell Wisser lettered for the first time. Ron Meer, Bruce Neulieb, Mike Sosinski, Al Warnke, Steve Webber, Co-captains Richard Buell and Mark Savinski, and manager David Pearson were second-year lettermen, while Don Thomas lettered for the third year in a row. Mike Sosinski broke records in pitching, completed games, starts, innings pitched, and strikeouts. He was also voted City's most valuable player. George Gabor was the second leading hitter in the conference, while Bruce Neulieb, first base; Mike Sosinski, pitching; and Mark Savinski, utility, made All Conference.

1972 Graduation Terminates First Century

Twelve years ago we started on our journey. 531 of us stumbled through the darkness wondering where we were headed. Many times the future seemed too forboding. Our dreams were lost and we were wandering confused and uncertain. Feeling so alone we reached for one another in faint hope. Then we found we had become a unit, the Great Class of '72, and our spirits rose. On June 8, 1972, we realized we had accomplished our goals; we had found the way through the darkness into the light. We had made it.

Then, looking carefully back at our one hundred year old Alma Mater and our red and white caps and gowns, we question ourselves, "Isn't this only the beginning?"

Traveling Abroad Creates New Experiences

Four Elston students represented the United States in foreign countries last summer. Julie Berg, Mary Wiegand, and Sue Minshall were on the I. U. Honors Program in Foreign Languages, while Skip Glenn was an AFS representative.

Julie and Mary stayed in Mexico for eight weeks. They attended morning classes where they studied Mexican grammar, literature, folk dancing, singing, and even heard a lecture on bullfighting. The Mexican boys have a custom of serenading girls on their birthdays, to welcome newcomers, or to make-up with their girlfriends.

Krefeld, Germany, was the home of Sue Minshall for eight weeks. She said, "Almost everything is homemade, so there are no canned foods." For recreation Sue played tennis and soccer. Germans seem to like American rock music, fashions, and especially our western movies.

Our AFS representative, Skip Glenn, lived in Tehran, Iran, for two months. His day started at 7:00 a.m. and ended around 10:00 p.m. There was a nap time from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. While in Iran, Skip went horseback riding, mountain climbing, and learning to bargain for merchandise at the local shops.

'73 Holds Hopes

'73 holds hopes and plans for the future. But hopes come true only if they are wanted and sought after.

Elston Resounds With Cries Of Devil Power

Elston's halls are filled with spirit before games. Banners and cheers loudly proclaim hopes for victory. At pep sessions a mighty roar is heard as the players enter.

The band, cheerleaders, R.T., and boy's cheerblock take over at the games, leading the fans in yells. Each cheer becomes louder and more desperate until a final climax is reached — victory or defeat. But no matter what the outcome, the same strong spirit returns for the next game.

Pride Swings School Spirit Back Into Action

During the month of August the Varsity Cheerleaders attended a camp in Alma, Michigan, to develop new gymnastic skills. Sponsored by Miss Taylor they once again proved their leadership and drive by receiving the "Spirit Stick" and winning various ribbons for their accomplishments. Besides attending all the games, they sold photo buttons of the basketball team, and along with the B-team Cheerleaders, sponsored by Mrs. Calloway, rang bells during Christmas for the Salvation Army.

Both Miss Taylor's Rote Teufels and Mr. Mark's Boys' Cheerblock assisted fans with organized enthusiastic cheers. The R. T. Formal held in February at Howard Johnson's was again successful with some 100 couples attending.

A special attraction this year was "City Slicker Day", when students and teachers could dress up or down in the old fashioned look of the "50's". At the following day's "Beat Rogers" pep session Jeff Andershock and Sandy Johns were named Mr. and Miss City Slicker of the year while Mrs. Croft and Mr. Fisher became the teacher representatives.

The football team started out the season with a fairly good game against Crown Point and then everything seemed to start going downhill. Until the last two weeks the closest we came to even tying an opponent was 14 points, including a 53-0 loss to Chesterton. Then suddenly the defense, if nothing else, seemed to come alive. Although Elston didn't score, the City defense held Elkhart Central to only 3 points. And in the Red Devils' final game, they only allowed Rogers one touchdown, without a conversion. However, the offense didn't follow suit, and Rogers won. Our season ended with a 0-10 record.

Lettering for the first time for Elston were Sophomores Rob Hoctor, Tony Johns, Andy Schmidt, Paul Schoof, Dave Surface, Richard Swistek, and Steve Wiseman. Juniors lettering for the first time were: Tom Bates, Cornell Branch, Tim Cavanaugh, Charlie Day, Donnel Garner, Henry Gilreath, Mark Kozor, Tim Logman, Rick Nauman, Matt Siegmond, Ted Soller, Mark Thielen, and Bill Wiencek. Al Barnes, John McBride, Chuck Neulieb and Bill Ohms were Senior first-year lettermen. Juniors Barry Criswell, Paul Lau, Dick Scott, Larry Skwait, and Mike Wolfe and Seniors Jeff Anderschock, Cecil Daniels, Paul Dunne, Max Glenn, Reed Marks, Bill Penn, Don Przybylinski, and Lowell Smith lettered for the second year in a row. Five players received All Conference Honorable Mentions. They were: Larry Skwait, Barry Criswell, Jeff Anderschock, Don Przybylinski, and John McBride. Don Przybylinski was chosen the team's most valuable player.

Homecoming Frenzy Peaks With Crowning

"A platform built of golden dreams filled with wonder, hope and joy.
As if enchanted came they forth to present themselves.
A winner each, five winners all,
then only one." Sk

Thanks to Mr. Croft, Homecoming this year became more pageant-like. Honor Society decorated the gym and each girl introduced herself at the assembly. Maureen King was chosen as the 1972-73 Homecoming Queen with Linda Aldridge, Pam Glenn, Lou-Ann Losiniecki, and Sandy Steepro comprising her court.

The demands of hungry fans were answered by numerous venders as Juniors worked to earn money for their class. One boy and four girls sold concessions at each stand during home games. Any seemingly unsolvable problems were brought to their sponsor Mr. Fisher and his wife. By the end of the basketball season, the workers had made enough money for the Prom and learned something about salesmanship.

Students Bound Together By Governments

Students served their school while governing it. Four groups, composed of representatives chosen by the student body, met to decide on ways of improving the school and the people inside.

The Senior Steering Committee plunged into the task of preparing their class for Graduation, selecting caps, gowns, and announcements. As the year progressed, plans were laid for the class play. Squeeze funds were enriched through dances and car washes. With Spring came the Senior Banquet and the end of a way of life, as Graduates entered a new world.

After a fun-filled beach party, the Junior class settled down to the problem of making money for the Prom. They started off with the play "The Happiest Years," later adding earnings from Concessions. Since Basketball Sectionals were moved to Rogers, supplementary projects were needed for a successful Prom.

The Sophomore Party marked the beginning of a new class at Elston. Following it, Sophomores found themselves engaged in various class projects and car washes for the Squeeze, pulling them together into a solid group. Steering Committee members found volunteers to be Prom Servers for the hungry upperclassmen.

The classes were combined in the Student Council. Two of its members were chosen to be on the School Board, and others helped the Budget Evaluating Committee. Plans were made to redecorate the Devil's Den in order to create a more relaxing atmosphere. Serf sales and other Squeeze-related activities were conducted as the classes competed and united to raise money for charities.

Y Clubs Reflect Attitudes Of Today's Youth

The Y Clubs had two main objectives this year; to help the community and to have fun.

During the Thanksgiving holiday Tri-Hi-Y Clubs gave Thanksgiving baskets to needy families in the Michigan City area. Meanwhile, boys in Hi-Y became involved in government, forming their own legislature in Indianapolis.

Despite the work, both groups found time to create victorious basketball teams. Later in the year volleyball teams were started, accomplishing the second goal.

Industrial Cooperative Training gave students the opportunity to earn money while receiving high school credit. On the job training in businesses and industries in town was provided by this cooperative work-study program.

After teaching the first semester, Mr. Wesolowski took an offer to become vocational director for the northeast Indiana area. Students were without a teacher until Mr. Clevenger took over. He had taught school for six years before, but had been out of teaching for the past two years.

These two men also took their respective turns in sponsoring the Vocational and Industrial Clubs of America. Formal meetings and their government were set up by the students. They raised money to finance students taking part in state-wide contests in Indianapolis.

City Runners Experience Rare Season

Elston experienced its first losing season in quite a while, posting a record of eight wins and eleven losses. One reason for this could have been a lack of participants. There was a total of 10 team members, including only five lettermen. David Ayars, Greg Holda, Udell Laster, Kenneth Smith, and Jim Van Lanen lettered for City. Udell Laster was named the most valuable player of the year, and Elston's standing in the conference at the end of the year was fifth.

Student Store Supply Supplies

Providing easy access to school supplies and helping to finance our school newspaper are the duties of the student store girls. Along with this, they sell school sweaters and tickets to athletic events.

They give up one hour a day to help their fellow students in dire need of cough drops, erasers, pens, and paper. These assistants learn how to run a store with all the money problems involved. This gives them valuable lessons in the selling and retail world.

City Gains Valuable Experience For '73 Season

With no returning lettermen, Coach Warner was faced with rebuilding the tennis team.

Although only one match was won, the set-scores became closer as the season progressed.

Players gained valuable experience which will be important next fall since these underclassmen lettered: Scott Duggan, Rusty Meska, Mark Harris, Steve Peters, Bob Schmitt, and Gilbert Green.

Seniors playing were Bruce Smith and most valuable player, Kirk Steer.

Other players were Tim Austin, Bruce Cordray, Jon Hilberg, Bob Holmes, Duncan McCollum, and Jim Zawacki.

With this experienced material returning, Coach Warner expects at least a .500 season next year.

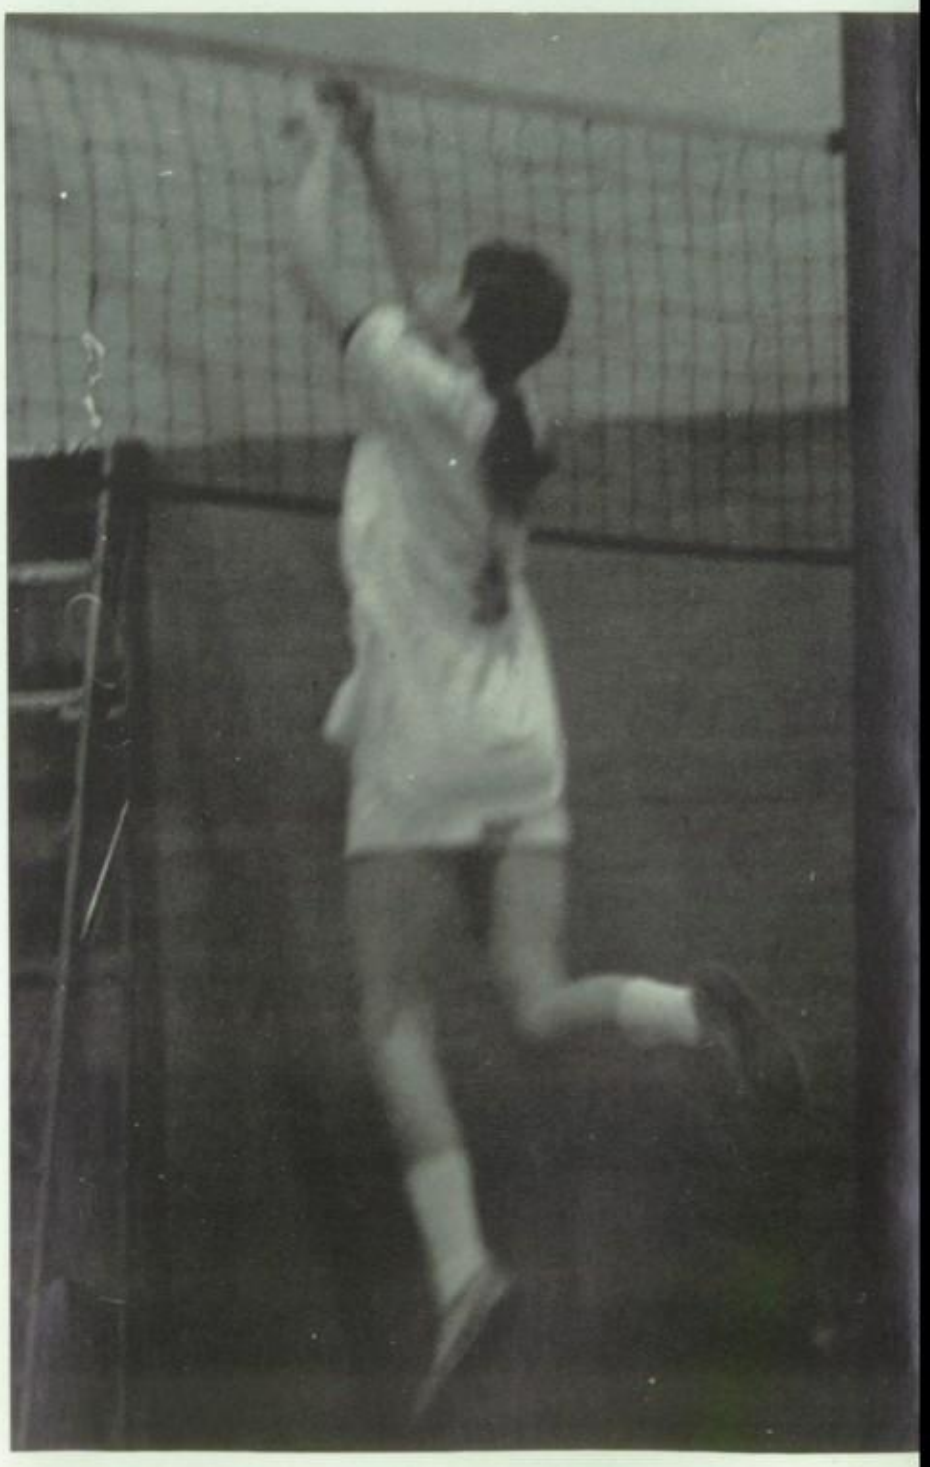
Elston Revives Girls' Sports



1972 was the first year for girls' sports at Elston. Miss Taylor coached the girls' volleyball team and Mr. Jonas was in charge of the girls' swimming team. However, because of a conflict with the Rogers pool schedule the girls had to swim with the boys' team. Until Elston acquires its own pool there will be no girls' swim team.

The girls' volleyball team had a 7-2 record and Miss Taylor expects an even stronger season next year as the majority of the past season's participants will be back again.

In addition to having a volleyball team next year there are plans for a girls' basketball team.

Juniors Bring Forth "The Happiest Years"

Supposedly the first years of marriage are the happiest. But the events in "The Happiest Years" left the audience in doubt. Martha and her husband, Richard, are constantly plagued by her meddling mother, Clara, who insists that Richard is having an affair with another woman. Martha's father, Bertram, tries to shut up his wife but to no avail. Finally Clara's badgering brings the hidden conflict to a head and Martha's Aunt Flo and Uncle Morty are caught up in the confusion as Clara tries to keep the imminent break-up a secret. However, it's said, "Love conquers all" as the happy ending proved when everyone explained their mistaken premises and conclusions.

Mr. Johns took percussion, woodwind, and brass sections and combined them to form the Elston Senior High Band. Rehearsals for one hour a day prepared these players for performances at football games and school assemblies.

The best and most spirited musicians joined the Pep Band. They devoted their time and effort to encourage the basketball team.

Marcy,
Sorry I can't even spell Mary with one R. I'm really glad I got to know you. You're a really great kid & I'm glad I had you in my classes. I hope you stay at Elston next year but if you don't + you go to Fairhaven say hi to Mr. Ynglving for me + good luck. If you stay at Elston good luck anyway + I hope we have some classes together. Never forget gym + Miss T. Never forget the endless homework. Thanks for the help I really have appreciated it. Well have fun this summer + maybe I'll see ya around.

'72 Imps Ripen Into '73 Champs

The leadership and direction of Coach Adams, Coach Whitlow, and Coach Steinke, molded a group of twelve young and inexperienced men into a successful team of which Elston could be proud.

Although their won-lost record did not reveal that they had a successful season, the Devils accomplished a great deal by capturing the sectional title and going on to the final game of the regional.

At the beginning of the season the Devils often ran into fourth quarter problems, caused by lack of experience, but as the season progressed City's opposition was having a harder time of just "walking away" with a victory. The simple fact was that the Devils surprised many people by winning the game which had been declared an easy win, not for the Devils but for their opponents.

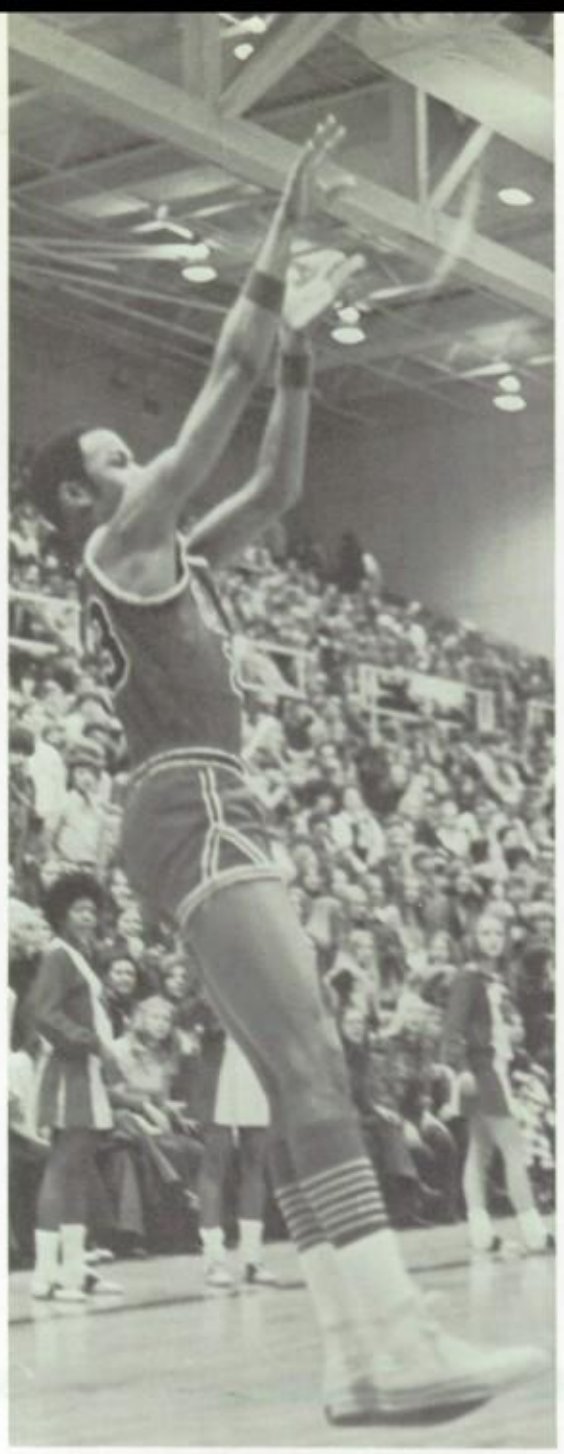
With this experience returning next year, the Red Devils can look forward to a promising season.



Devils Capture 22nd Sectional

The Devils surprised everyone by winning the 22nd consecutive Sectional Title, with a climactic final game against LaPorte. That victory gave Elston the longest current running Sectional winning streak in the entire state of Indiana.

In the opening game of the Sectional the Devils defeated the impressive New Prairie Cougars and then went on to defeat Marquette, thus being eligible for the final game of the Sectional. The Devils conquered LaPorte, and proceeded to Regional play.

In the first game of Regional action the Devils beat the Portage Indians which gave them the privilege to play in the final game against Adams where they were defeated.

Student Assistants Grasp New Techniques

Transparencies and master copies for tests are some of the many things the Audio Visual assistants prepare. Under the leadership of Mr. Shaner, their sponsor, they schedule and deliver the needed film strips and slides. These students are always ready to help a teacher run a projector or tape recorder.

The Media Center assistants help in a library as well as in the Radio-T.V. Studio. Typing cards and cataloging books are part of the librarian assistants' work. Students working in the studio are involved in producing radio programs and closed circuit T.V. productions. As you can see, these two clubs have a lot of valuable experience to offer.

Swimmers Splash Toward State

Elston's 12-5 record was the best in history of City swim squads. They palced third in the conference and fourth in the Sectional with one swimmer, Tim Kinney, qualifying for the state finals by placing first in the 200 and 400 freestyles and setting two sectional records.

Many new school records were set including 100 yd. backstroke, 200 yd. freestyle, and 400 yd. freestyle by Tim Kinney and Paul Swedenberg broke the 200 yd. Individual Medley record. Dick Fekete set a new diving record of 197.90 points. The swim team consisted of 10 lettermen of which four were Senior, four were Juniors and two were Sophomores. Dick Fekete and Paul Swedenberg lettered for the third year in a row.

Halt! Who Goes There?

Mr. Whitlow's hall monitors stood as steadfast as castle guards. They were to be obeyed and feared in the halls of Elston. Giving up one hour a day, these students kept our halls quiet during class periods.

By stopping anyone without a pass, they set the example for all to follow. Otherwise, wandering students were brought to face Mr. Adams.

Quiet is the dominating sound upon entering. You tiptoe slowly across the floor so as not to disturb anyone. A Silent battle is raging, as tense opponents position their men, capturing and being captured, until a triumphant cry of "Checkmate!" rings through the air.

Needing a rest, you retire to the library. Here, too, the silence is intense, but it's calmer, more relaxing. There are girls walking around, replacing books in their correct shelves. These Dahlites keep the library running smoothly.

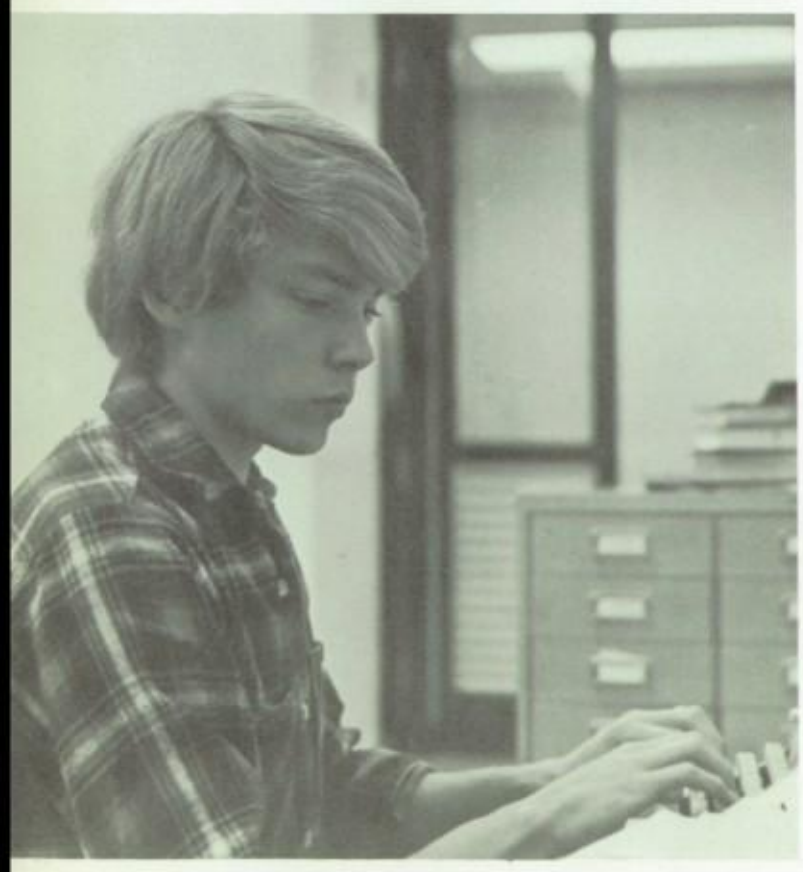
Comet Employs Magazine Style, Mr. Bowie

The first step the Crimson Comet staff took was to substitute a more modern magazine style for the typical newspaper format they had used in previous years. Consisting of eight pages, the Comet sported a cover which was designed by the staff's own art department, a student page where students submitted art work and poetry, a back page montage, and general news at Elston and Michigan City. Students views could be read in the Peopoll and in letters to the editor which dealt with life at Elston.

Due to a smaller staff than in previous years, staffers had to work even harder in order to make their bi-monthly deadlines.



Impossible!

In order to ensure that the ELSTONIAN would arrive in time false deadlines were established at the beginning of the year. The secret was kept until the last deadline had been met and then the word was spread that all deadlines had been advanced one week. With that ELSTONIAN staffers retorted, "Impossible!" or words to that effect.

Members Endeavor To Improve Relations

Human Relations Club was designed to create better harmony between students at Elston. Members met twice a month to work on pre-planned projects including Christmas baskets for the needy and the annual play. They also attended a banquet sponsored by Michigan City's Human Relations Club, with Mayor Miller speaking.

Last year "A Raisin in the Sun" raised $115.00 which Human Relation's president James Sanders presented to the Martin Luther King Center on behalf of Elston Senior High.

Christmas Assembly Proves Innovative

In hopes of a white Christmas, students hustled into the gym to listen to a combined musical program. It consisted of the girls and guys chorus, directed by Mr. Timberlake, and the band, directed by Mr. Johns. Highlights of the program were exciting musical arrangements by the band, such as "The Carol of the Drum," and "Sleigh Ride." The chorus was able to introduce new instrumental backgrounds into such songs as "Twelve Days After Christmas" and "African Noel" by using the bongos and the celeste.

The assembly came to a close with the presentation of a gift to Mr. Jones from the Senior Class, and a prayer and the singing of "Silent Night" led by our principal.

Slush Hinders Skiers' Hopes

Members of Ski Club didn't have many meetings this past year because of the lack of snow. Unfortunately for the ski buffs, the snow fell on the wrong days and when the time came to hit the hills, the sun came out and so did the mud. By the 8th of February the skiers had only gone on one trip to Ski Valley.

Mr. Evertt's Bowling Club met on Tuesdays and Thursdays this year to gain experience in bowling techniques and for just plain fun. For 30 weeks, each person practiced for the big event — the Holiday Tournament, which was held in December on the 26th and 28th. Bowlers picked their own partners and bowled for the championship.

After starting out the season with three straight wins, wrestlers lost all seven of the remaining meets. And yet City came out on top at the Knox tournament in which eight teams participated. Although John Matthews could not compete in the Sectionals because of illness, two Elston wrestlers were crowned Sectional champions; Bob Witner and Greg Littlejohn. Bob Witner, (6-1), and John Matthews (5-2) had the two best conference records and John was voted Most Valuable Player.

Seniors Sparkle In Star-Studded Spoof

"You Were Born On A Rotten Day," presented by the Senior Class, proved to be a fast-paced comedy. Claude P. Jones, Physics instructor of Galileo High School, needed more funds for his department. But the community opposed him because he wouldn't include astrology in his classes.

At a highly publicized town meeting, Ptolemy, a famous astrologer, appeared to predict a fantastic event. He was actually the unfortunate Claude, who had made wild predictions which came true. Ptolemy disappeared at the meeting, causing the superstitious townspeople to vote funds for a telescope.

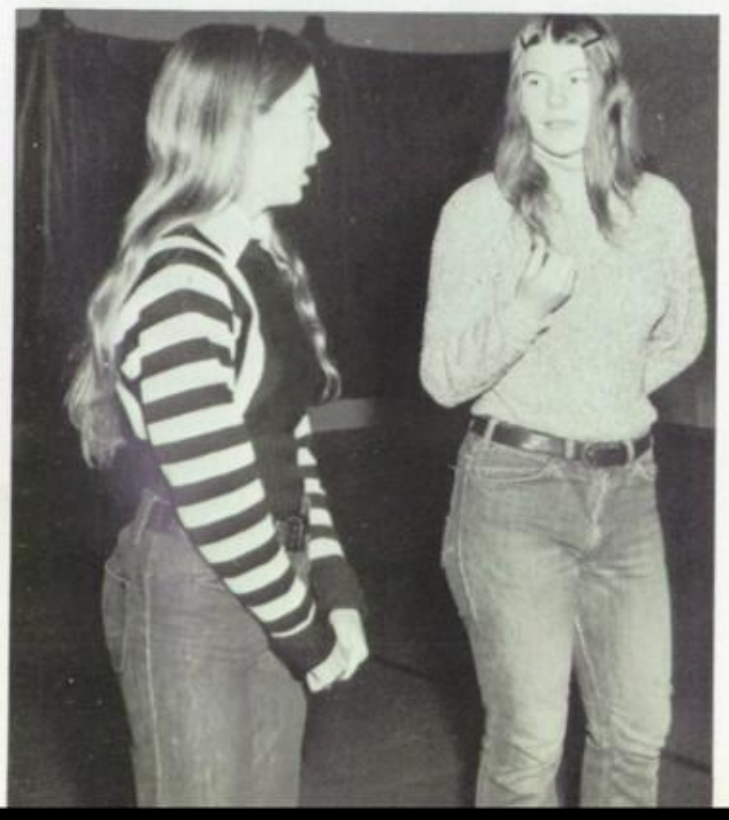
Honor Society Performs Necessary Tasks



National Honor Society members found an additional duty awaiting them this year. A backdrop and stage were set up and decorated for Homecoming, in order to make the contest one of beauty as well as popularity.

They did not lack in regular duties, however. The annual Dad's Night Football Game, Back to School Night and school plays all found willing ushers in Honor Society. The Sophomore Assembly and Hams 'n' Lambs were put on by them also.

AFS Strives Toward International Unity

The American Field Service Club was new at Elston this year. It was formed to give members a better idea of the functions of the AFS. All of the Social Studies classes listened to a combined speech by Marco and Skip Glenn, as they related their experiences on the AFS program. Marco compared the United States to his home in Brazil, and Skip told of his summer spent in Iran.

Cycle Club Rides Again

Elston cyclists mounted their machines and rode off with hopes of adventure. They were one of the sights to see in the Homecoming parade, when they gave Linda Aldridge a motorcycle escort. The club usually met in Moon Valley where they rode on the trails. The cyclists also planned a weekend campout.

Hopes Blossom Into Reality

Spring brought the hopes and dreams we had searched for during the year. Like a flower, our hopes blossomed into fullest expectations. Finally we had something we could call our own.

Language Classrooms Afford World View

Foreign language students not only studied the basics of grammar but learned about different customs inside and outside the class.

Students who had traveled outside the country brought slides to club meetings and discussed the various customs, experiences, and sights they had encountered. After informal meetings, often held at a student's home, refreshments were served and members either played games or talked with friends.

Inside the classroom, students were expected to learn the fundamentals of the language with the aid of maps, dialogues, movies, and teachers. Advanced language students undertook reading dramatic plays and writing book reports to enlarge their knowledge of their course.

Clubs, Classes Linked Through Parties

Business Classes Utilize Modern Techniques

This year's business department has incorporated many new ideas in its program. A new club was formed to give students a better understanding of business opportunities. This club, called Students Incorporated, also brought out factors concerning good business policies and education.

Typing students gained rhythm by typing to music. They had fun typing mystery pictures, but also built their abilities toward office work.

Some students found an entirely new approach to writing through shorthand. The foreign and often weird symbols soon became easier and faster than the old "abc's."

General Business taught a more general aspect of the business world. The fundamentals this course provided are helpful to anyone out of high school.

Office Machines gives the students the ability to operate and understand how these machines work. Business Law and Math give a greater insight to solving deeper problems.

All good businessmen need to have accurate records. To learn this ability, students took Bookkeeping. For students who wanted to get out in the world there was COE. Job placements were found in the city.

Science Meets Demands Of Varied Interests

GILBERT DEHNE — Advanced Science, Chemistry, Canteen, Science Club.
DONALD EVETT — Physics, Chemistry, Bowling Club.
WILLIAM SCHWAB — Physical Science, Earth Club.

Science students found themselves haunted by thoughts of moles, vectors, and glycogen as they strove to remember (or forget) these terms. Diverse subjects afforded Elstonites opportunities to study science in its many branches.

First on the list was Physical Science. This class touched on the basics of all areas of science and provided the student with a general background in everything from physics to biology. Chemistry classes provided an insight as to the structure of the atom and how elements combine to form molecules, plus a brief look at electricity.

For those still retaining a thirst for scientific knowledge, Physics was offered. Momentum, velocity, work, and radioactivity were but a few of the topics covered in this challenging course. The class where the minute details of science were discovered was Advanced Science. It consisted of one semester of Biology and one of Chemistry, both of which were interlaced with the student's own project.

Students who were really into the science world joined Science Club. They met about once a month to listen to guest speakers and enrich their minds.

Earth Club met after school on Mondays to discuss ways of improving our environment. Projects included a field trip to the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago.

Activities Abound For Future Homemakers

Although most people do not realize it, the Home Economics department offers more than just a basic learning of foods and clothing. Students in the foods classes taught by Mrs. Ambrose study such topics as nutrition, consumer education, and food preparation. Usually two days a week are spent in the actual cooking. Participants in Mrs. Wenger's Food Services classes are trained to perform a dual role: that of the wage earner and homemaker. Regular activities include serving faculty lunches and baking and donating cakes to Head Start.

Mrs. Sparks and Mrs. Wenger teach clothing students about textiles and basic clothing construction. Each girl sews six garments of her choice. She allows at least one of them to be displayed in the Occupations Building showcase. Clothing Services classes are designed to prepare the girl for a job related to her abilities. The girls learn to sew household items such as draperies and bedspreads. This year they have made ties on a mass production basis and sold them to the faculty. The Design for Living course taught by Mrs. Ambrose encompasses many aspects of homemaking. Among the topics studied are family economics, child development, and interior decorating. The main objective of the class is to prepare the girl for marriage and adulthood.

Students from both foods and clothing classes were combined this year for the first time in the Future Homemakers of America Club. Members of the club decide on their own activities and do projects for home, community, and self-improvement.

Practical Knowledge Gained Through Shops

Shop classes this year were concerned with building skills for the future. Some trained students for jobs, while others concentrated on skills useful for a home.

Mechanical Drawing classes introduced students to the techniques of drawing practical designs. Paper and pencil were used in Technical Drawing, producing machines of the highest efficiency. Garages and homes were blueprinted in Architectural Drawing as students learned the intricate details of a building.

A new device, the motor generator trainer, was introduced in Electronics classes. Practice on this prepared students for jobs in generating plants. Students also gained experience with wiring houses and repairing appliances.

A wide variety of subjects were available in Graphic Arts. Offset and silkscreen printing were used to produce Christmas cards and tickets for the class plays. Programs the students printed contained pictures and designs they had created.

Aviation Flight Technology started students on the road to becoming pilots. Simulators gave them the feel of flying, while problems in wind direction and velocity provided background for course plotting.

Films Awaken Students' Interests

Communications and computers affect everyone in the school system. The films provided and operated by the Media Center and the Audio Visual Department help teachers give students a better education. Anyone who has learned to program a computer knows how many miles of paperwork these machines save.

Three men served the school in these respects. Mr. Holdcraft was in charge of the Media Center and its assistants, Mr. Shaner headed the Audio Visual Assistants, and Mrs. Shanks taught Data Processing.

Vocational Students Perfect Mechanical Skills

For the purpose of building their mechanical skills, students took part in many vocational courses.

In Power Machine shop they worked on lawnmowers and outboard engines. They also learned how jet engines are constructed and operate.

Auto shop taught the workings of marine engines as well as those of cars. Students from Westville, Chesterton, New Prairie, and LaCrosse joined the Elston students in repairing cars for City residents.

Pieces of metal were fused together in Welding classes. Students used the technique of stick welding to join the parts into one.

Building an addition to the bus garage at Joy school was only one of the projects for Vocational Building Trades this year. After working in this class, students had a good idea of the feel of building for an occupation.

Students learned the principles of forming objects out of metal in Sheet Metal shop. They then were given a chance to apply this knowledge, transforming the sheets into buckets and other projects.

Machine Shop trained students to make interchangeable machines parts. Projects were also completed for other classes, including repairing gears for Graphic Arts.

Wood became the basis for projects in Wood shop. Lathes carved the pieces into delicate shapes which soon took the forms of chairs and tables.

Mary,
Best of luck in your future endeavors. I hope that you continue working as hard as you have this year.

Geometry Is Stepping Stone To Calculus

Geometry classes meant only the beginning for many math students. There they studied polygons and learned how to prove congruencies. They then stepped up into Algebra classes. Students who intended to continue their math studies chose Algebra II and others took the combined Algebra-Trigonometry class. In either case, the Juniors learned to set up and solve equations involving one or more variables. Those who continued their studies as Seniors advanced into Trigonometry classes or even Calculus. Some students were given the chance to express their creativity through Trigonometry projects. Many used a variety of materials such as wire, glass, cloth, and pipe cleaners.

Club Problems Solved By Minds, Machines

Math related clubs were very busy this year, meeting once every two weeks. The clubs were small, which encouraged more active participation. Computer Club met with the purpose of helping students to learn computer programming. Eventually it was possible to use the equipment in the Occupations Building. Members of the Math Club met to work on interesting problems that would not be mentioned in a math class. Later in the year students gathered to study for the competitive M.A.A. test, which was administered by Calculus students.

Art Reveals Creativity, Individuality

For one hour a day art students retreated into room 0-207 to display their talents. Various projects included wood block prints, ceramics, embroidery, and weekly figure drawings which helped coordinate hand and eye.

Mr. Robinson sponsored the Art Club for those who were totally submerged in the art world. The club took several trips including a tour of the Chicago Art Museum and various studios where the works of promising artists could be viewed.

Singers Strengthened By Desire For Music

Faced with the problem of not having a permanent teacher the first six weeks, music students attempted to bind themselves by a common goal; a love for music.

When Mr. Timberlake took over the music department, things became more organized. Warm-up exercises, scales and rehearsing music for programs became part of the daily routine. Music included songs from the Carpenters, Fifth Dimension, and the movie "Shaft."

In Music Theory students learned the basic elements for composing music. Triads, tonics, and thirds were just part of their vocabulary.

A Capella, Girls' Chorus, and Mixed Chorus displayed their talents at Back-to-School Night, public appearances, and school assemblies.

Physical Education Coordinates Mind And Body

Not only did physical education stress muscle coordination, but it emphasized coordination of the mind which was invaluable in participating in team sports. The girls' classes became involved in playing badminton and other team sports which taught the players the necessity of strategy and being cooperative in helping out a friend learn the finer points of the game.

Working out with weights, wrestling and calisthenics were only a part of the boys' program. They strengthened not only their muscles but their tactics in winning intramural games.

Drivers Education this year was comprised of three basic steps. First, students went to the classroom phase for discussion, then to driving simulators, and finally to actual behind the wheel driving.

Students not only learned how to drive but became familiar with rules to insure the health and safety of others. Students became acquainted with these rules in Health class too.

Cadet Teachers Provide Classroom Aid

Approximately fifteen seniors took part in the Exploratory Teaching program this year. Each of these students was assigned to an elementary or junior high school, and there spent two hours each day. They were often able to choose the grade and school of their assignment. The cadet teachers served both as tutors and teachers' helpers. They graded papers, put up bulletin boards, and worked with small groups of children. Sometimes they helped entertain the children at recess. These future teachers received credit for their work and all agreed it was a valuable experience.

DE, CHO Perfect Job Skills

The DE and CHO programs provided an opportunity for industrious students to gain valuable work experience before leaving high school. All participants attended school for at least two hours a day and then proceeded on to their place of work. Distributive Education students worked at businesses or stores where they learned such things as merchandising and window display. Students of Cooperative Health Occupations most often worked at hospitals and served as dietitians, nurse's aides, or assistants in the different departments. All CHO students belong to the national organization of VICA, and DE participants belonged to DECA. The high point of the year took place when selected students of the two clubs took part in competition with students from other schools. They competed in office and hospital skills by means of written tests and demonstrations.

English classes at Elston are not the dull catch-up-on-sleep hours that you would normally expect from a required English course. Such topics as Macbeth, Jesus Christ Superstar, and the Bible are covered in Senior English classes along with Creative Writing, research papers, and journals. Juniors are met with American Literature, novels to read, research papers, composition, and many other activities. Sophomores met the challenges of book reports, vocabulary, and poetry. Naturally, all English courses overlap somewhat. Literature, vocabulary and Grammar are restudied briefly each year.

Teachers have been striving to find new and interesting ways to present the same material and it seems they may soon succeed. Students and teachers together on an English Curriculum Committee have discussed many new plans for the future. Among these would be a varied course with certain electives for each six weeks period. Creative writing, poetry, literature, author studies, and many other individual courses would be offered to students.

Learning To Communicate Expands Horizons

English classes are not the only places from which to learn communication skills. Remedial Reading helps students improve their reading speed and comprehension. Practical experience in the field of public appearance can be obtained in Public Speaking. Pantomimes, monologues, commercials, oral readings, speeches and current events are among the happenings. Journalism class works on preparing a mock newspaper, writing headlines, ads, articles of interest, interviewing, and writing stories. Near the end of the year, the Journalism class helps put out some issues of the school newspaper. Also included under Journalism are Elstonian, the school yearbook, and The Crimson Comet, the school newspaper.

Mock Voting, Games Materialize In Class

For those 18 year old students who were eligible to vote in the 1972 Election, social studies classes provided indispensable information. Even those not yet 18, students learned how to register their vote on voting machines and discussed the candidates who were running for office.

Some students worked for weeks campaigning for the candidate of their choice while others relayed the results of the election from the precincts to the News Dispatch.

Senior classes studied the laws of the federal, state, and local governments in addition to taking Sociology, Economics, or American Problems, which helped broaden their understanding of our past and present society. U.S. History and World History students undertook the responsibility of understanding how the U.S. and other countries developed into their present state today.

In addition to the usual curriculum, students were supplemented in their knowledge of current events by playing "Jeopardy" and reading "Newsweek" and "Senior Scholastics."

Elston Imports

Getting to know the people and culture of Michigan City was the most important thing to AFS Brazilian exchange student Marco Godinho. In fact, Marco sacrificed being on the football and swimming teams in order to learn more about America.

On the average Marco was asked to give a speech every other week to various social clubs in the surrounding area. But not all of his free times was spent giving speeches.

Marco was active in Science Club, AFS Club, Steering Committee, and the Senior Play. He was also adopted by the Senior Guys C Marco resided with the DeCaro's.

Brazilian Skiers

Half-way through the year Elston found its population increased by one. Lucia Nigib came here from Sao Paulo, Brazil, to perfect her English. After a brief stay in Michigan City, she took off for a quick tour of the country, visiting New York, Washington, and Florida.

Returning to Elston, she resumed her studies of French, English, Typing, Public Speaking, and History. Snow was a new discovery and she made the most of it by joining Ski Club.

With all her new-found friends, Lucia had no time to be homesick. In fact, she enjoyed everything about Elston except the runs through the snow between buildings.

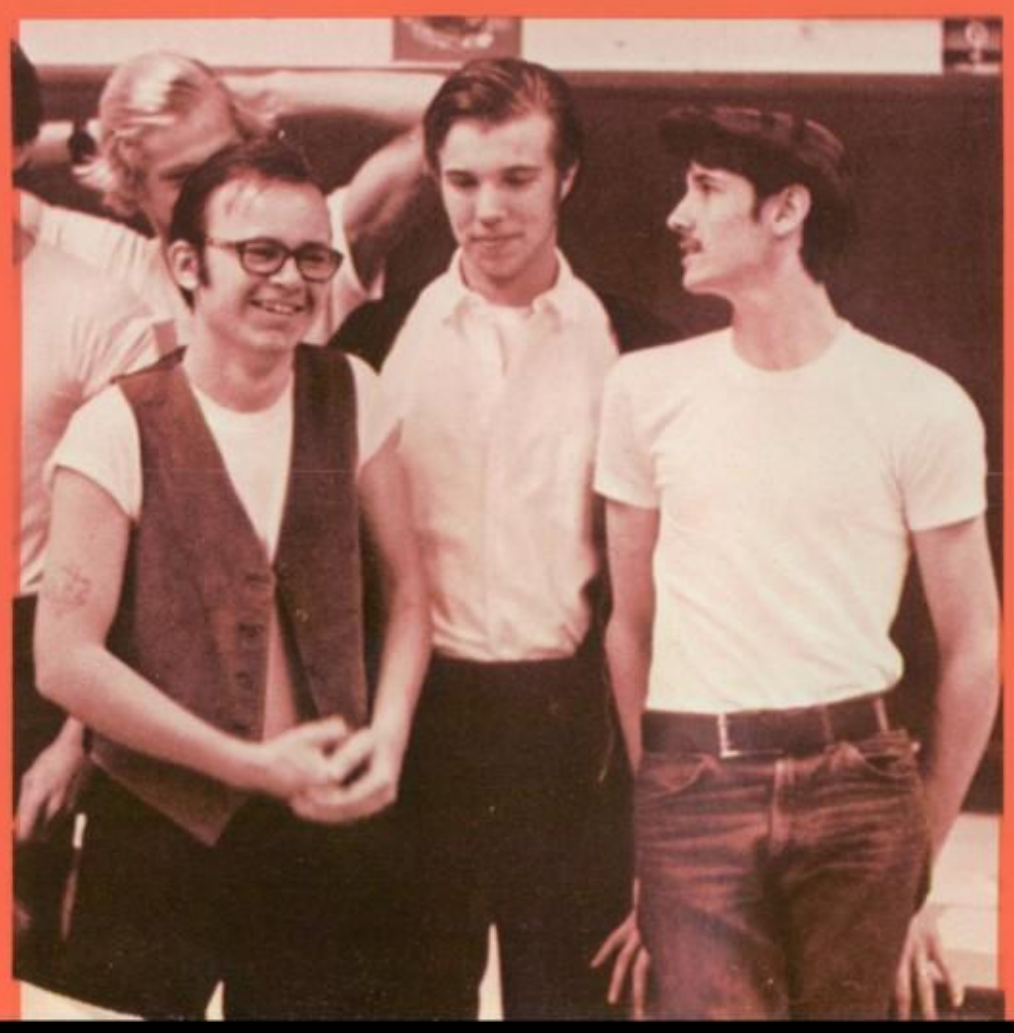
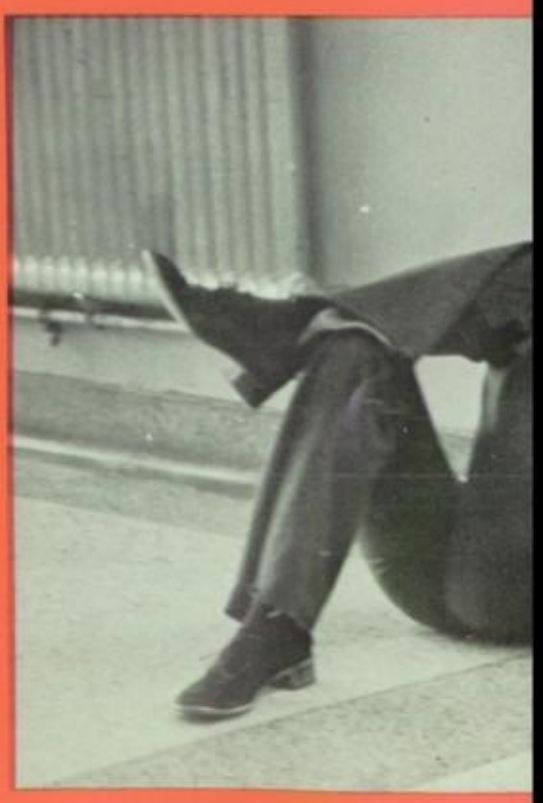
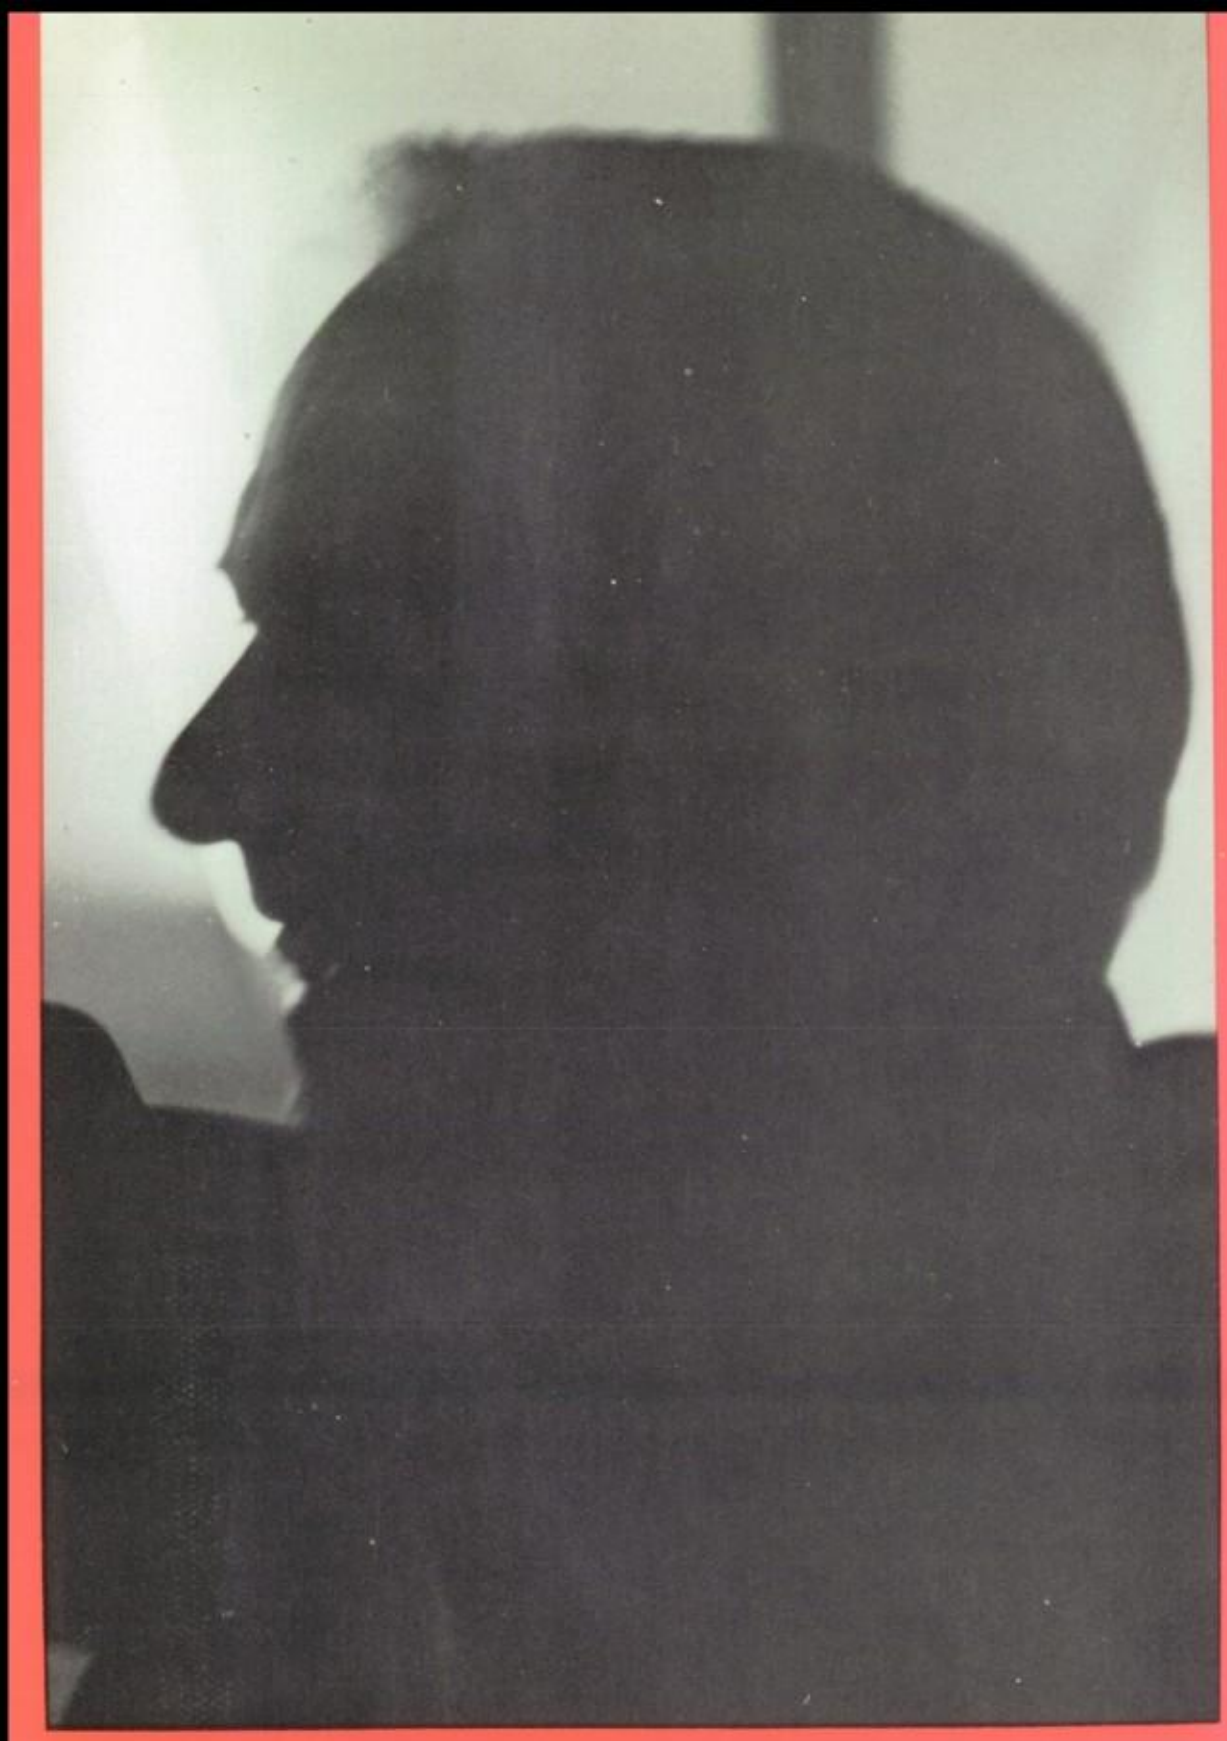
Mary
Well, its been a long year. But a fun one. There's a lot to say but such limited space, so I'll try to squeeze it in. Remember all the fun we had in P.E. Sometimes it was really unreal. We both acted crazy when we got together. Especially when we played badmitten. We almost beat em' all. But in that game almost doesn't count. But it was great. And I hope it will be that way next year when we're in another class together. But even if we're not in the same class I want you to remember me. And I hope you get the most out of life because you deserve the best. You're a real sweet kid and take my advice and don't change. And I hope you have a great summer. But don't go overboard and get to great of a tan. So maybe I'll see ya this summer. But for sure I'll see you next year. So I think I'll be nice and leave some room for someone else. R.M.A.

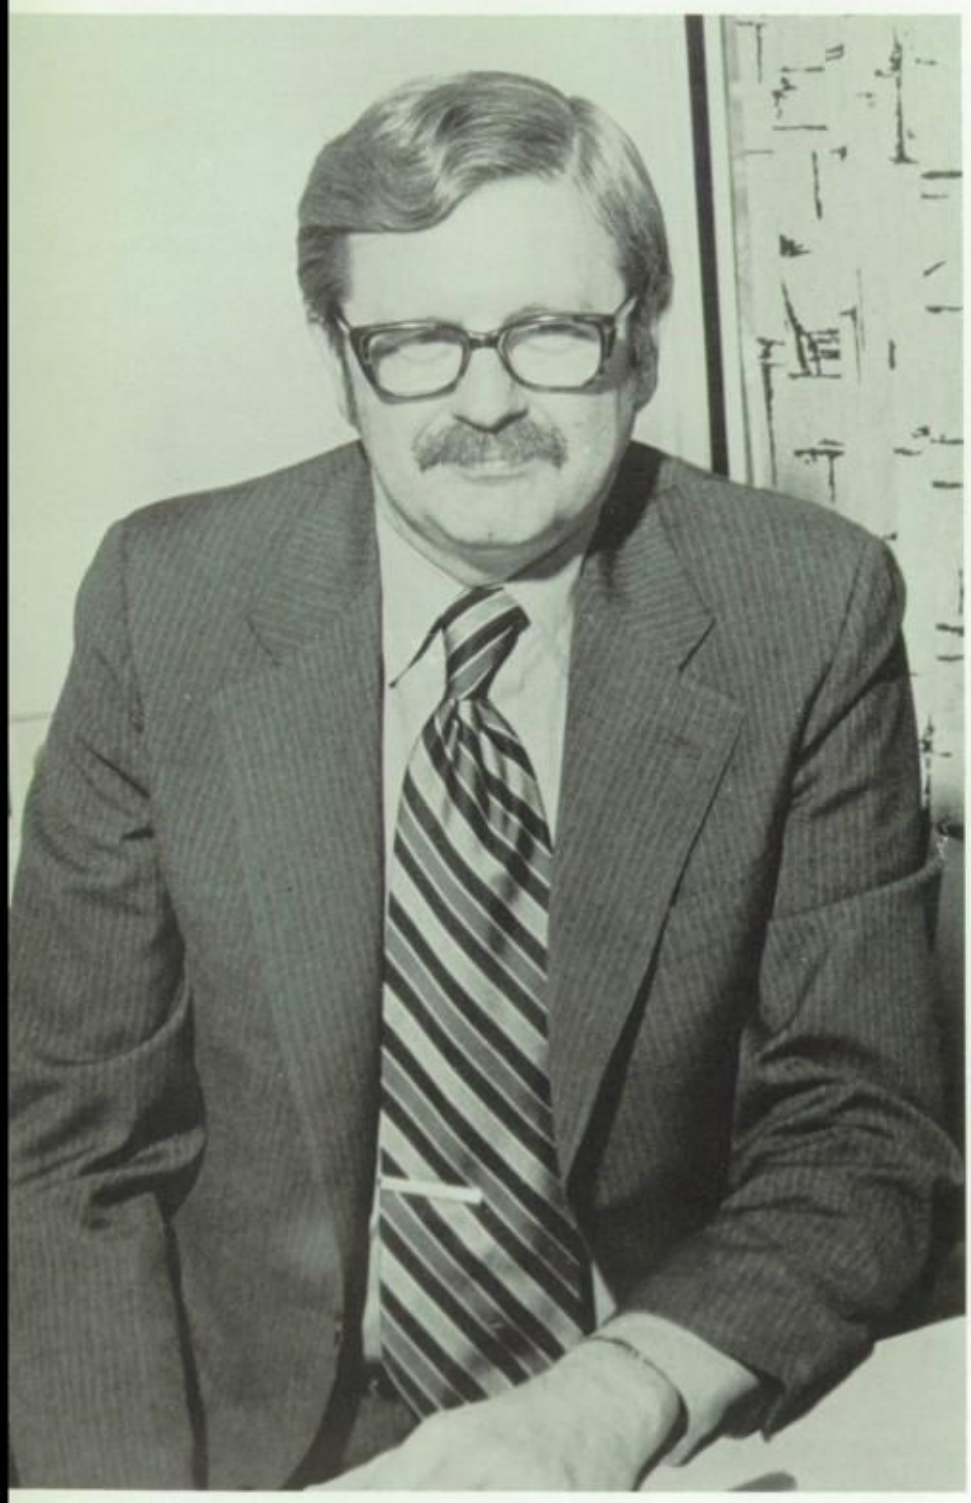
Friends,
K Diane K.
(The one with the weird picture)



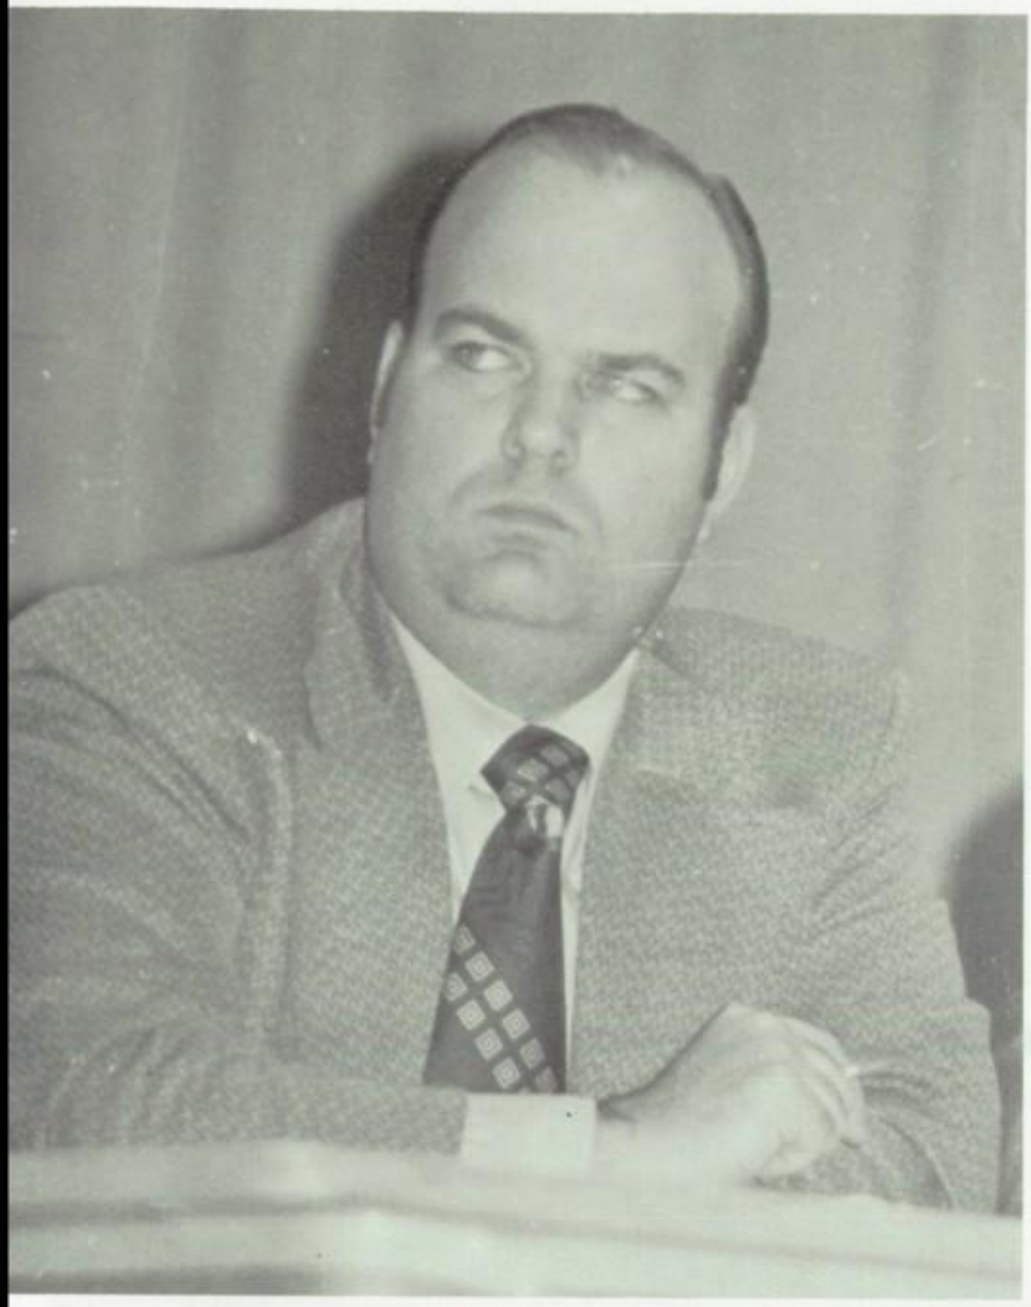




We are the administration, faculty, and students all combined together to form one body — the body of Elston.



Administration Initiates School Efficiency



The efficiency of a school system begins at the top. Only if every person performs his duties to the best of his ability, can the schools provide the best education possible. So it is up to the administrators to insure that the schools are working properly.

Still new in Michigan City, Dr. Charles E. Fields found himself in his second year as our Superintendent this year. In keeping the system running smoothly, he was assisted by two Associate Superintendents; Mr. James Wagner, who was in charge of school finances, and Dr. Robert Raisor, who was the overseer of secondary schools. These men strove to make all levels function as one.

To do so, however, they needed help from others. These were the members of the school board, and they met regularly to decide on such matters as planning vacation breaks, employing teachers, and providing new equipment.

Numberless Duties Greet Principals

Despite a decline in the school enrollment, the Principal's responsibilities remained numerous.

Planning the school calendar was one of the first duties Principal Warren E. Jones had this year. He was responsible for the curriculum and school policies. When Graduation was discussed, his was the final word concerning caps, gowns, and announcements.

The Assistant Principals did more than just check attendance and administer discipline. Mr. Allan Whitlow handled teacher parking and student insurance. He was also in charge of issuing report cards, lockers, and ID cards. Mr. Douglas Adams planned fire drills and summer school. Student elections, activity pictures, and student parking were arranged by him.

Secretaries Battle Paper Monsters

Secretaries proved to be invaluable as they fought a never-ending fight against paperwork.

Head secretary Mrs. Lucille Larson took care of the shorthand and typing for the principals. Miss Harriet Wright kept an accurate report of attendance and tardies. Collecting and recording book rentals was done by Mrs. Phyllis Novak. As guidance secretary, Mrs. Carol Fisch typed college applications and performed general office work. Mrs. Beverly Chapman did the shorthand and typing necessary for the Occupations Building. Secretarial work for the library was completed by Mrs. Eulalah Smith.

Nimble Legs Launch Office Efficiency

Young legs kept the school running at top speed this year. Office Messengers, Occupations Building Assistants, and Counselors Assistants found themselves traveling the halls to collect attendance, deliver call-out slips, or just run errands. Often they were busy at such tasks as filing, answering the telephone, and typing.

After the call-out slips were delivered, it was time for the Counselors to swing into action. They arranged schedules and helped students plan for the future. No matter what the problem, they were always ready to listen and make suggestions.

SENIORS Remember Power And Pride

In Numbers . . .

Individuality was the outstanding feature of this year's Senior class. Although it was sometimes a hindrance, it also proved to be an asset, such as in the Senior Class Play. Did anyone ever say, "You Were Born On A Rotten Day?" For six weeks Seniors worked to prove this point. However, "rotten days" have passed and the Class of '73 began planning for the day when a sea of mortarboards and gowns would flood the gymnasium. For Seniors looking back, their three years at Elston held memories of pep sessions resounding with screams and chants of devil power, the traditional Squeeze, a Prom in a City Under the Sea, plans for the Senior Banquet, and so many other Senior projects. The Seniors, looking toward the future, held hopes for peace, success, and happiness.

Dedicated JUNIORS Reinforce Class Bonds

With a tightly knit Junior Class one could usually expect the unexpected. Steering committee members, class officers and all around enthusiasm helped generate class unity. New traditions such as winning many red and white days, were established by the Class of '74. Previous traditions upheld too were the Jr. Class Play "The Happiest Years," and Jr. Concessions which reaped vital money for staging the Jr. Sr. Prom.

Untried SOPHOMORES Enter One By One

When the class of '75 stepped into the halls of Elston, they quickly learned the meaning of responsibility. Steering committee members were elected in each homeroom and were responsible for attending meetings in order to inform their homeroom what was discussed. Plans for the sophomore party, red and white day, and the squeeze were put into action at these meetings. Finally the sophomores contributed their services by serving refreshments at the Prom.

Products Provide Protection

Floyd Bentley and Nancy Anderson know from first hand experience that MAYER'S CHILDRENS SHOP at 915 Franklin has the best clothes for children. After all they were once little people too.

The NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY protects not only children but all kinds of people.

BLOCKSOM COMPANY works hard to keep you comfortable and safe by making materials for cushioning and padding, as Chris Westhouse, Denise Brown, and James Sanders know.

At FRANKLIN PHARMACY located at 1517 Franklin you get special services which serve your whole family in the way of pharmaceutical needs.

Pride Produces Quality

EQUIPMENT, W. U.S. 20, has been building truck trailers since 1959 and they are proud of their outstanding contribution to the economic growth of Michigan City.

sey Ashcraft and Frank Wolford gather at the Colonel's for an after-school snack.

Park bench bumpers on a Pontiac from SWARTZLANDER MOTORS, 411 Pine, provide a resting place for Jim Lamm and Pat Finger. These bumpers are on all 1973 Pontiacs and Cadillacs to protect you while you drive in luxury and comfort.

Comfort, Luxury, Economy

The trio of Bill Ohms, Nancy Hackett and Kathy Larson agree that LARSON'S CARPETING is tops on the totem pole. Find the tops in carpeting at 1325 E. Michigan Blvd.

Brazilians and Americans know a good car when they see one, as Lucia Nagib and Kenny Rubin prove with an Oldsmobile. Find your gallant men of olds at ORBIT OLDS, 625 E. US 20.

Sizing up the newest thing in fashion is Michelle Shaia. Go on down to THE LADIES SHOP at 731 Franklin Street and find out for yourself.

While Linda Sherman enjoys the comfort of the Century Buick, Steven Scott muses on the economy of it all. So get your next set of wheels at SHERMAN BUICK, the only way to drive, at 309 W. Michigan Blvd.

Although it seemed we had already completed a million pages before February 20th arrived, we kept working in hopes of finishing the 1973 ELSTONIAN. Without the help of the following people this yearbook would not have been possible: Mr. Warren Jones, Mr. Doug Adams, Mr. Al Whitlow, Mrs. Lucille Larson, Miss Harriet WRight, Mrs. Phyllis Novak, Mrs. Carol Fisch, Mr. George Bowie, Mr. Richard Sparks, Mrs. Susan Colgrove, Mr. William Schwab, Mrs. Anita Spencer, Mrs. Marilyn Aust, Mr. Bill Swedenburg, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mara, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bell, Taylor Publishing Company, faculty members, custodial staff, parents of ELSTONIAN staff, and everyone in the student body of Elston.

We wish to extend our gratitude for their patience and help in the finishing of our 1973 ELSTONIAN.

The 1973 ELSTONIAN was printed by Taylor Publishing Company. Body type is 11 point solid Times Roman and cutline type is 9 point Times Roman. Headline type is 30 point Times Roman. Senior, faculty, and underclassmen protraits were taken by Indiana School Pictures, Indianapolis.

A dream, a hope, a goal was attained in '72-'73 by persistence and a desire to have what was always ours but needed to be claimed.

To Mary,
It is nice to have you in my homeroom, I wish you were in more of all my classes. Good luck in all you do, now and always.
